

BIOGRAPHY

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

COLONEL F. ANDREW TURLEY

Colonel F. Andrew Turley is the Air Reserve Component Advisor to The Judge Advocate General, Headquarters United States Air Force, Washington, DC. His principal duties are to provide senior-level coordination and advice to The Judge Advocate General on all matters concerning the Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard programs. Col Turley also works closely with the senior leaders of the Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard legal communities across the nation.

Colonel Turley received his commission by direct appointment and began his active duty career with the Air Force in January 1985. During his initial five-year active duty tour, he served in the base legal offices at Mather Air Force Base, CA, Comiso Air Station, Italy, and Scott Air Force Base, IL. He also served in the legal office at Headquarters Military Airlift Command and as the Area Defense Counsel for Scott Air Force Base.

After returning to Massachusetts to enter the private practice of law, Colonel Turley transferred to the Air Force Reserve and was first assigned as an Individual Mobilization Augmentee (IMA) at Hanscom Air Force Base. He then moved to the Massachusetts Air National Guard as a traditional Guardsman, serving first as deputy staff judge advocate and later as staff judge advocate for an A-10 fighter wing. Upon relocating to Washington, DC in 1994, he returned to the Air Force Reserve to serve as an IMA to the General Litigation Division, Air Force Legal Services Agency (AFLSA) and later to the International and Operations Law Division in the Office of the Judge Advocate General. Col Turley was reassigned to the Massachusetts Air National Guard in 1997, where he served as staff judge advocate for the state headquarters. In 2002, he was selected as the Judge Advocate Assistant to the Director of the Air National Guard, National Guard Bureau, Washington, DC, a position he held until commencing his present active duty assignment in December 2002.

Colonel Turley served from 1998 through 2002 on The Judge Advocate General's Air National Guard Council, a national policymaking body for the Air National Guard legal community. His most recent deployment was to Bosnia-Herzegovina in November 1997. Col Turley was called to active duty immediately after the 11 September 2001 terrorist attacks to serve on an extended tour as the legal team chief for the Air National Guard Crisis Action Team, Andrews Air Force Base, MD.
